

THE ULTIMATE BLOW-OUT SHOW

CHECK OUT THIS SPECIAL DEAL FOR CAMPUS ACTIVITIES MAGAZINE® READERS

With countless novelty suppliers and a barage of games and activities offered, it can be a difficult task when deciding which suppliers to work with. Typically there are two major factors that must be examined in order to make such selections. Foremost is pricing. No matter how great a product may be, if it's not affordable then it's simply unattainable. Second is quality. There is nothing worse than ordering a show or product based on a picture in a brochure or on the web only to discover when it arrives that it is barely held together by duct tape and twine.

One additional factor to consider is the kind of relationships that can be developed with a supplier. Mike Seymore of Cutting Edge Productions may be the best example in the biz when it comes to personal service and attention to his clients. Not only do you get the highest quality products at competitive prices with CEP, but service is unmatched.

With that said, CEP is bringing a special package to the table that will have your campus pumped. "Unique and original entertainment and is what we are known for. One of the other things we are known for is having the stuff that students have to have each year. We decided this year to give back to the schools because we know how drastic budget cuts have been. So, we have created The "Ultimate Blow-Out Show". Combining "American Pop Stars," a create your own music video program, "Bling Nation," and the "Xbox 360 Domination Extreme." Normally these three shows booked individually would run over $6,000, but what we are doing this year is combining all three shows shipping on one truck and booking them at $2,250 plus lodging. That's saving over $4,000 for our clients."

The combination of these three shows really makes good sense. "Bling Nation" is a show that allows the students to dress up with gold chains and platinum grills and carry around big blinged-out goblets. The perfect compliment to that is to allow them to get dressed up and then make their own music video in full costume. You also have the "Xbox 360 Domination Extreme" which includes Wii and Playstation 3's for those who are too shy to make a music video or have little interest in the bling. One of the greatest parts of the combination is that it provides something for everyone.

CEP has a passion for and dedication to working with students on programming boards. "I think students need to know more than just the name of a company or whether or not they are a top rated vendor. They should know the people within it as well." It's that kind of attitude and attention to detail that ranks CEP above the rest.
